Community College Business Officers Announces 2022-2023 Officers and New Directors

Charleston, S.C. — Community College Business Officers (CCBO) elected officers and new members to its Board of Directors during the association's Annual Conference held October 3-5, 2022 in Orlando, Florida. Past President Chris Wodka, Vice President of Business Affairs at Central Arizona College, passed the gavel to incoming President Sheila Smith, Associate Vice President of Business Affairs at Midlands Technical College. The other 2022-2023 Executive Committee members include:

- Tiska Thomas, Deputy Chief Business Officer at Dallas College in Dallas, Texas, serves as CCBO President-Elect.
- John Pitcher, Vice President of Administration and Finance at Bunker Hill Community College in Boston, Mass., now serves as Vice President for Regional Services.
- Maderia Ellison, Vice President for Administrative Services and Chief Financial Officer at Northland Pioneer College in Holbrook, Ariz., continues as the association's Treasurer.

In addition to the 2022-2023 officers, Beth Young, Vice President for Business Affairs/Chief Financial Officer at Central Carolina Technical College, will serve as American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) Liaison. Michael McCarthy, Chief Financial Officer and Chief Operating Officer at Northern Essex Community College, joined the board of directors as Region 8 Representative.

CCBO equips community college professionals with the essential knowledge, skills and collaborative opportunities to better serve their colleges. The only organization dedicated to continuing education for individuals in the community college business office, CCBO trains the next generation of Chief Business Officers and provides current leaders with updated information on national issues facing community colleges through Leadership Academy, its flagship program. CCBO also offers continuing education through monthly webinars and an annual conference.
